

Toni Hassan

Hello. I have nominated for the board because I think I can contribute a diverse set of skills to help support and strengthen the school; student well-being and performance, CHS's partnerships with families, and its reputation for inclusiveness and community engagement.

I have worked in journalism, strategic communications and community development and am passionate about the enabling power of education. I have three children, one of whom is in Year 9 at Campbell. I have previously served on a primary school board and as an evaluator for that school's successful kitchen garden program. I have been a board member for two not-for-profits including the results-driven Canberra charity, Indigenous Reading Project.

I am an adviser to the Public Education Foundation which provides life-changing scholarships to students and teachers (for professional development) and is dedicated to enhancing the value and the standing of public schools.

As a perpetual student myself, I am currently studying fine arts at the ANU School of Art and Design.
